The richness and diversity of contemporary environmental philosophy remains largely absent from the everyday discourse and decision-making processes of environmental governance. This Symposium seeks to envision a richer and more inclusive environmental governance, proposing specific steps for how environmental philosophy can better engage current governance practices.

elusiveconversations@gmail.com www.philosophy.msu.edu/events/elusive-conversations